Sanctuary Housing – Learning and Development Roles.

Our challenge with Sanctuary Housing was not simply to find one or two suitable candidates, but to recruit an entire Learning and Development team for an evolving HR department. And to do so within the confines set by a tight budget and a difficult location.

This campaign was about changing perceptions. By using the creative concept of the amazing capacity of the human brain, we got across the idea that Sanctuary is in fact a highly innovative, forward-thinking organisation – looking for talented people from all sorts of backgrounds.

Small, low-cost ads in HR publications and online banners were used to drive traffic to a four-page microsite which went into detail about Sanctuary and the nature of the roles on offer. Not only did the site have excellent click through figures, it also got a lot of people familiar with Sanctuary Housing as an employer, including those from outside the housing sector.
